

Hi Dipika,

Welcome to your new meal plan and this is going to be your Seventh Meal Plan.

Based on your latest blood work, the next phase of your plan is now being shifted more aggressively toward improving insulin resistance, lowering androgen levels, reducing systemic inflammation, and optimizing your body for healthy conception support.

Your recent markers showed elevated testosterone levels, higher HbA1c, and significantly raised inflammation markers, which tells me that while your body has responded positively in some areas over the last few months, we now need a more therapeutic and targeted metabolic approach.

So in this phase, the dietary structure is being tightened strategically - not by extreme restriction, but by improving glucose stability, reducing inflammatory load, and supporting hormonal balance more efficiently.

The biggest nutrition changes being implemented are:

- reducing overall glycemic load further to support HbA1c reduction
- minimizing carb stacking in meals
- pairing every carbohydrate source with protein + fiber + healthy fats to improve insulin response
- reducing inflammatory triggers and blood sugar spikes from excess liquid carbs, dried fruits, and unnecessary sugar load
- increasing anti-inflammatory and hormone-supportive foods like omega-3 rich fish, seeds, high-quality proteins, cruciferous vegetables, spearmint, flax, and mineral-rich foods
- increasing focus on stable energy, ovulation support, egg quality, and metabolic flexibility instead of only weight reduction

This phase will also prioritize:

- improving ovulation quality
- lowering free testosterone naturally
- improving recovery and nervous system regulation
- reducing chronic inflammation
- supporting mitochondrial and egg health for conception

REVISED SUPPLEMENT STRUCTURE:

- Vitamin D3 - 10,000 IU with breakfast/lunch containing healthy fats
- Myo + D-Chiro Inositol - 2 gm morning + 2 gm night
- NAC - 600 mg twice daily (empty stomach or morning + evening)
- Omega-3 - EPA + DHA combined 2000-3000 mg/day, divided with lunch and dinner

- Magnesium Glycinate - 300-400 mg nightly
- Vitamin B12 (Methylcobalamin) - 1000 mcg/day
- CoQ10 - 200-300 mg/day with fats
- Prenatal + Zinc - continue as before

The overall goal of this phase is not just symptom management, but improving the internal metabolic environment required for hormone balance, inflammation control, improved insulin sensitivity, healthier ovulation cycles, and better conception outcomes over the next few months.

Moong Dal Palak Chilla (2)

1 serving
30 minutes

Ingredients

3/4 cup Moong Dal (130g of the soaked dal ie 75g of the dry dal)
2/3 cup Baby Spinach (130g blanched and pureed)
1/4 tsp Turmeric
1/4 tsp Cumin Seed Powder
1/4 tsp Red Chili Powder (as per taste)
1/4 tsp Sea Salt (as needed)
1/2 pinch Asafoetida
1/4 cup Red Onion (1 small onion finely chopped)
2 tbsps Cilantro (finely chopped)
1/4 tsp Ginger (peeled and minced)
1/2 Green Chili Pepper (finely chopped to taste)
1/2 cup Water (as needed for batter)
2/3 cup Water (for soaking)
1 1/2 tsps Avocado Oil (for cooking and crisping the chilla)

Directions

- 1 Rinse the moong dal 3 to 4 times in water. Soak the lentils with 2 to 3 cups of water for 3 to 4 hours or overnight if you plan to make the chilla for breakfast. The moong dal will swell or double up in size. Discard the water. Rinse the mung lentils again a few times in water.
 - 2 In a grinder, add the soaked moong lentils and 1/4 cup of water. Grind to a smooth and fine consistency. Don't add too much water as the lentils might not grind evenly. We need a smooth and lump free batter for moong dal chilla.
 - 3 Take the finely ground batter in a bowl. Add turmeric powder, red chili powder, cumin powder and salt or as required.
 - 4 Then add chopped coriander leaves, blanched spinach Puree , chopped onions, grated ginger, finely chopped green chilies and a pinch of asafoetida.
 - 5 Allow the batter to rest for 15 to 20 mins.
 - 6 The onions will leave some moisture. Check the consistency of the batter. If its too thick, then add 1 to 2 tablespoons more water. But remember not to add too much of water as the batter will not spread evenly on the skillet or tawa.
 - 7 The consistency of the batter has to be of pouring consistency, neither too thick nor too thin.
 - 8 Heat a well seasoned pan. This is important as the pan has to be hot before you make the chilla. Add a scoopful of batter towards the center of the pan. The batter will spread a little on its own. Just rotate the batter with the back of spatula giving a round and even shape.
- Cook the chilla on medium heat. After a minute they will look crisp and brown from the bottom. At this point drizzle a bit of oil around the edges and in the center of the chilla. Spread the oil drops with a spoon all over the cooked chilla. Flip the chilla and cook the other side for a minute. Once the moong dal chilla appear crisp and golden, remove and place aside. Similarly make all other chilla.

Serve moong dal chilla with tomato ketchup or green chutney.

Notes

Add veggies: You can add veggies like beetroot, tomato, zucchini, spinach etc. to the chilla as well.

Portions : Note if the batter is too watery take 2 chillas.

Directions

- 1 Wash the chana dal thoroughly and soak it in water for about 30 minutes. Drain the water.
- 2 Heat oil in a pressure cooker or a deep pan over medium heat then add cumin seeds and asafoetida. Let them splutter before adding chopped onions. Sauté until the onions turn translucent.
- 3 Add the soaked and drained chana dal to the onions. Sauté for a few minutes. Add turmeric powder and red chili powder. Mix well.
- 4 Add 2 cups of water and salt to taste. Close the pressure cooker and cook for 2-3 whistles or until the chana dal is tender.
- 5 From the pressure cooker, transfer it to a deep pan or kadai. Add chopped spinach and tomatoes. Mix well.
- 6 Cook the mixture on medium heat for about 10-15 minutes or until the spinach wilts and the flavors meld together.
- 7 Your Sai Bhaji is now ready to serve. Enjoy it with roti.

Notes

No Rice: Serve alone or with quinoa, couscous or potatoes instead.

Leftovers: Keep covered in the fridge for up to 4 days or in the freezer for up to 2 to 3 months.

Too Thick: If the curry gets too thick, add extra vegetable broth to thin it.

More Flavour: Add extra cilantro and lime.

Directions

- 1 Kala Chana Prep - Rinse black chickpeas for a couple of times in water. In a large enough bowl, take 2.5 cups water and soak the black chickpeas or kala chana in it overnight or for 8 to 9 hours. Drain the water. Using a colander or strainer, rinse the soaked chickpeas in water for a couple of times and set aside.
- 2 In a medium-sized pressure cooker, add 1 tsp. Reduce the heat to a low. Add cumin seeds. Let them crackle and then add finely chopped onions.
- 3 Sauté onions till they become light golden on a medium-low to medium heat. Again reduce the heat to a low.
- 4 Add finely chopped garlic, green chilli, ginger and sauté for 10 to 12 seconds or until the raw aroma of garlic and ginger goes away.
- 5 Add finely chopped tomatoes and sauté them on a medium-low heat until the oil starts leaving from the sides of the onion-tomato masala. The tomatoes should soften and become pulpy.
- 6 Add turmeric powder, asafoetida, coriander powder, kashmiri red chili powder and sauté for a minute on low heat.
- 7 Then add the soaked black chickpeas and water. Season with salt and mix well.
- 8 Pressure cook chana on a medium heat for 10 to 11 minutes or 10 to 12 whistles until the chickpeas are cooked tender and softened well. If they have a hard center or are undercooked, pressure cook further for 5 minutes.
- 9 Lastly sprinkle the curry with garam masala and coriander leaves. If you like, garnish Kala Chana gravy with coriander leaves.

Directions

- 1 Preheat the grill to medium-high heat. Clean the grates and grease well.
- 2 Pat the salmon dry with paper towel. Drizzle the oil over the salmon. Rub it with chipotle powder and season with salt and pepper.
- 3 Place the salmon flesh side down and close the lid. Grill for two to three minutes. Gently flip the salmon skin side down and reduce the heat to medium. Close the lid and grill for three to five minutes or until cooked through. Rest for five minutes and then flake into pieces.
- 4 Add the arugula, onion, cucumber, and tomatoes to a salad bowl. Drizzle most of the dressing over top. Portion onto plates and top with salmon. Add the remaining dressing as needed and enjoy!

Notes

Leftovers: Refrigerate the salmon and salad ingredients separately from the dressing in sealed containers for up to two days.

Serving Size: One serving is approximately 2 1/2 cups of salad with salmon.

Additional Toppings: Sliced avocado, cilantro, radish or toasted nuts/seeds.
