

Hi Dipika

Welcome to your new plan and this is going to be your Sixth Meal Plan!

On the next pages, you will find the customized plan I have created for you, along with an itemized grocery list and delicious recipes.

Building your meal plan is an iterative process and we would like to get as much feedback from you as possible so we can immediately add/remove/swap recipes as needed.

Special notes

The primary focus of the third plan is to decrease carbohydrate intake and increase protein consumption (light dinner with lean proteins), with an emphasis on enhancing muscle mass and reducing body fat percentage.

Even if you haven't seen weight changes, it's important to monitor the following indicators to detect signs of fat loss and improved muscle mass.

1. Improved energy and stamina
2. Inch loss ( fitting into your previous clothes)

NOTE

- Allow swapping and flexibility within the same food groups.
  - For example, swap whole grains with whole grains and proteins with proteins.
  - For instance, swap quinoa with whole wheat or brown rice, and chicken breast with egg whites.
  - Utilize the same ingredients to craft your own recipe, streamlining the process to save time and create it according to your comfort level.

Nutrient Timing

Adjust meal timings in accordance with the initial meal plan.

Grocery List Tips

I have included a full grocery list that outlines the ingredients you will need to follow this meal plan. Before you head out to do your shopping, take some time to go through the list and check off any items you already have. This will save you time and money!

Shopping Tips

The grocery list is organized into categories based on how a typical grocery store is laid out. This will allow you to do your grocery shopping in an organized order starting with fruits, then vegetables, etc. Doing your shopping this way will save you time.

Recipe Tips

Every recipe states the total number of servings and the total prep time so that you know how many servings the recipe creates, and how long it will take you to make it. Before you start cooking, assemble all ingredients and prep them according to the ingredients list. Unless otherwise indicated, you will be eating one serving of each meal. So if a recipe serves four, prepare it, divide it into four even portions and enjoy one portion.

Leftovers

You'll notice that some meals on the plan are shaded out. This means that the meal has been marked as a leftover. You've already prepared it, so you do not need to make it again. Cook once, eat multiple times. Leftovers are a great way to save you money and time in the kitchen!

Drain the water. Using a colander or strainer, rinse the soaked chickpeas in water for a couple of times and set aside.
- 2 In a medium-sized pressure cooker, add 1 tsp. Reduce the heat to a low. Add cumin seeds. Let them crackle and then add finely chopped onions.
- 3 Sauté onions till they become light golden on a medium-low to medium heat. Again reduce the heat to a low.
- 4 Add finely chopped garlic, green chilli, ginger and sauté for 10 to 12 seconds or until the raw aroma of garlic and ginger goes away.
- 5 Add finely chopped tomatoes and sauté them on a medium-low heat until the oil starts leaving from the sides of the onion-tomato masala. The tomatoes should soften and become pulpy.
- 6 Add turmeric powder, asafoetida, coriander powder, kashmiri red chili powder and sauté for a minute on low heat.
- 7 Then add the soaked black chickpeas and water. Season with salt and mix well.
- 8 Pressure cook chana on a medium heat for 10 to 11 minutes or 10 to 12 whistles until the chickpeas are cooked tender and softened well. If they have a hard center or are undercooked, pressure cook further for 5 minutes.
- 9 Lastly sprinkle the curry with garam masala and coriander leaves. If you like, garnish Kala Chana gravy with coriander leaves.
